Cleveland Climate Action Fund is the nation's first community-based carbon reduction fund. To date, the Fund has invested thousands of dollars in Cleveland neighborhoods.

We provide a benefit to the community by:

- Funding local projects
- Educating residents with free climate action workshops
- Providing donors an innovative way to mitigate their climate impact

Cleveland Climate Action Fund works closely with the City of Cleveland to foster opportunities for residents to take an active part in building thriving and healthy neighborhoods throughout the city. We advise our donors on how their contributions directly mitigate their carbon impact right here in Cleveland.
